Solar panels are fitted to supplement your energy usage and will help reduce your energy costs. They capture the sun's energy and convert it into electricity to use in your home. This truly renewable and infinite energy source also means that carbon emissions are very low.

Impressive interiors include a superb range of contemporary design features, which enhance every part of your new home - from spacious layouts and sleek kitchens to stylish bathrooms and premium appliances, a high-specification finish is the Elivia standard. A host of practical considerations includes energy efficient gas boilers, downstairs underfloor heating and thoughtful storage areas.
